I want Christmas Eve to be a legislated a public holiday because:

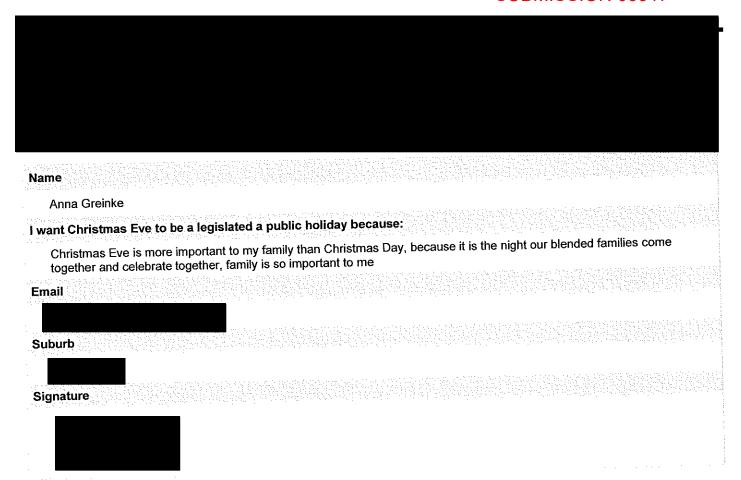

It is a special time that people should be spending with their families. When working late on Christmas Eve, it is very hard to find time to do things like wrapping gifts or preparing Christmas Day food. In the past when working late on Christmas Eve I have been forced to complete these things past midnight and into Christmas Day, which makes for a very tiring Christmas Day. Christmas Day is sometimes the only day retail employees have to spend time with their loved ones after being required to work Christmas Eve and Boxing Day.

vant Christmas Eve to be a legislated a public holiday because:
More family time, hopefully, but more likely I will still miss out on Christmas Eve dinner with the family.
Working at it is compulsory to be available to work the week before Christmas and no holidays are allowed 2 weeks before Christmas, it sucks kids get 6 weeks holidays and have to fend for themselves. In the past 24 years working in retail I have either opened shops up at 5 o'clock in the morning and/or both closed at 9 o'clock at night. Day shifts don't exist, only for that special 'in' group. It sucks.
Christmas Day is always chaotic, open presents with kids, 5 minute breakfast than jumping in the car to visit husbands family for lunch and then dinner at my parents (3 different towns). My husband and I both work in retail so we are both normally working Christmas Eve and I seem to be always working Boxing Day. Would love to be able to enjoy and spend a relaxed Christmas with the husband and kids and maybe even get to go to church Christmas Eve.  Someone still has to work public holidays, I seem to get only 3 public holidays off a year - Good Friday, ANZAC day and Labour Day because doesn't open. Having public holiday rates is a plus though.

I want Christmas Eve to be a legislated a public holiday because:

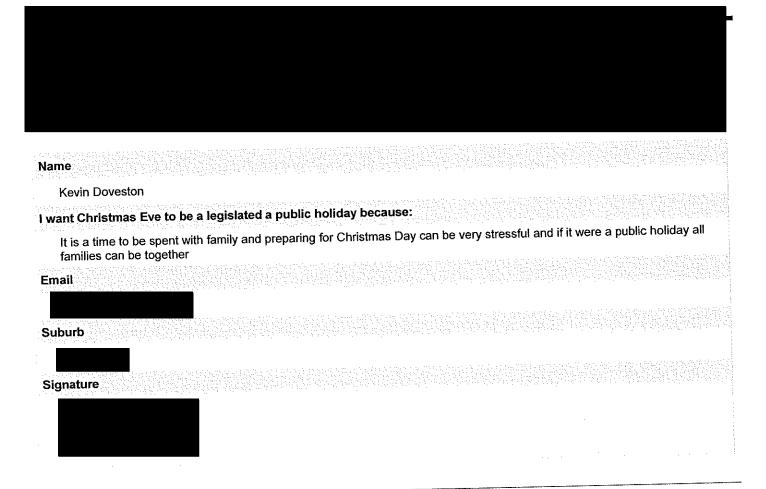

For people with young families to be able to have that special time of putting kids to bed early and sitting up all night putting presents together and setting up the house as if santa and the reindeer were really there. Plus i think that the biggest problem with our society today, including crime rates, anger, stress and drug related crime all stems from the fact that families are not together for those special times anymore. I think the answer is putting families back together as much as possible or at the very least make their time away from the family unit worth while with extra incentives

I want Christmas Eve to be a legislated a public holiday because:

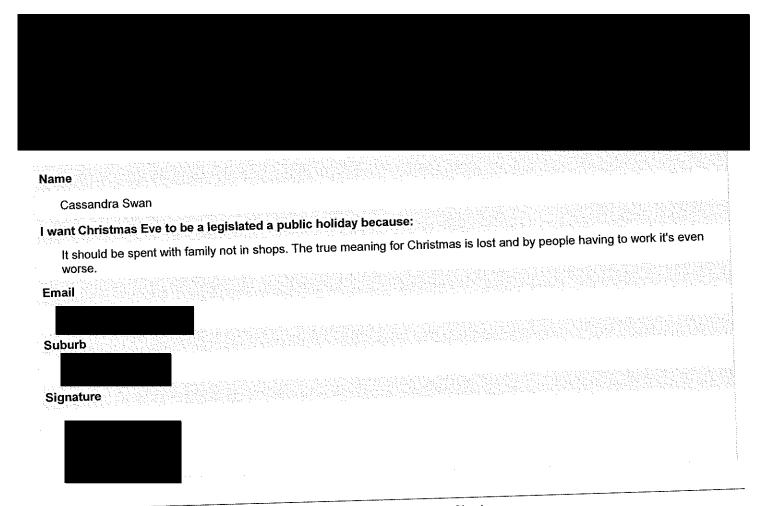

With the increase in operation hours throughout a general week, the work life balance has tipped significantly towards work. Therefore the expectations of the worker has also increased. With mental and physical issues rising and lack of time with family and friends to unwind and make memories.

This is why I strongly believe Christmas Eve should be a public holiday, even better it should be a shortened half day of operations or closed.

vant Christmas Eve to be a legislated a public holiday because:
It is important for Families to be together on Christmas Eve at a time that is suitable for the Parents to be able to enjoy time with their kids before they go to bed and be asleep before Santa arrives. Finishing at 6:00 pm would be a great time for all People to finish work and get home with time to spend with their Families and friends. It is time that all of Australians get then same treatment for their finishing time as other states get like Canberra who get to finish at 6:00 pm on both Christma Eve and New Years Eve. Just because they live in the State where Parliament resides and therefore get looked after by the Prime Minister, doesn't mean that the other States should expect to be treated differently. The Parliament are supposed to be in power to service all Australians not just the residents that live in Canberra.

I want Christmas Eve to be a legislated a public holiday because:

It will give me more time to spend with my family and if I finish work at 6PM it will also give my family and I at least an hour of daylight to travel on the highway to visit family for Christmas without worrying too much about wildlife jumping out in front of me. I am even all for a half working day on Christmas Eve and also that we should stay closed on boxing day too to give ourselves time to get back home . Why do we need to stay open all day when almost everyone else has a half or full day off? Nobody works a seven day straight week so why aren't they doing their shopping on weekends, their rostered days off or when they finish work of an afternoon. Its not my fault if our customers have poor time management skills!!!!!!
